David Attenborough Day

Dear Parents,

On Friday 8th May, David Attenborough will be celebrating his 100th Birthday. As we know, David Attenborough is a significant individual linked to education about the environment, climate, wildlife and planet Earth. To celebrate this occasion, we will be taking part in a David Attenborough Day on Thursday 7th May.

Our School Eco Committee have created some fantastic activities that pupils will complete throughout the day. Pupils will rotate in their houses and take part in a range of activities linked to planet Earth, wildlife and our environment.

To make this day extra special, we ask that pupils come to school dressed as an animal of their choice to celebrate the wonderful wildlife that exist on our planet.

To raise money to buy plants to make our school environment a warm, welcoming and colourful place to be, we kindly ask for a donation of £1 on this day.

We look forward to an enjoyable day learning about the life and achievements of Sir David Attenborough.

Thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely,

Miss Ayling
