Can you find more information about the occupations below?

Physical Development Signing Hands

NEW GO NOODLE

The children in Nursery are loving this new go noodle warm up dance routine. Let me know from home what you all think? Thumbs up or down? Is it a winner?

Phonics/Writing Phonics- Green Words

As we are nearly at the end of your year in Nursery. I have posted these two videos to help you continue to practice segmenting and blending for early reading.

Remember to pause the clip so you can switch on your sound buttons (Fred Talk). Play the clip when you are ready to blend the sounds (read the word).

Keep up the practice ready for Reception. Try to read them each time with little or no blending.

Use your say it, make it, write sheet (see below) to practise making the words.

Lots of other ways to practise these words...
Adult read the word- sat
You segment the sounds in the word s-a-i

Adult segment the sounds s-a-t
You blend the word sat

What's your emergency?

- Introduce the emergency services number and encourage children to find the numbers on a role play telephone. The poster below could help too. Remind the children that it is very important to only use this number in a real emergency.

- Provide some cardboard boxes for the children to use to make model buildings. Talk about the different shapes of the boxes and also the different heights of the buildings.
- Then provide some construction toys and small world people toys for the children to use.
- Challenge them to make ladders for the firefighters to rescue people in the buildings. Which building needs the longest ladder? Why?
- Perhaps you could build a boat for the coastguard?
- Have you built a hospital or a vet in your town?
- Role play making pretend phone calls for different emergencies.

Write down the emergency number.
